Miss Clipper's Anecdotes, Personalities and Comments, CONCERNING STAGE FOLK and Sometimes OTHERS

BY JOSEPHINE GRO.

Ernest Lamson, who about election time will open his season with last year's success, "Young Tobe Hoxie," sends the following two incidents wherein he played the principal roles.

A few years ago, during his first theatrical experiences, Lamson learned that one should think twice before resorting to the law for formed him that he wouldn't accept the mule as a gift, much less pay anything for him. The young actor was furthermore invited to take his mule and get out of the stable.

Lamson says that after using some language not permitted in polite society, he grabbed the halter and led his property from the place, having at the moment no stopping place in mind. Reaching about the middle of the block he paused to decide what to do and where to go with his "white elephant." No sooner had he done so than a mob of young-the office he greeted his unwelcome caller with a forced smile, which, however, had no conciliatory effect, for the man gruffly exclaimed:

"You have turned out a mule to starve in an empty lot, and made yourself liable to arrest for cruelty to animals."

"I don't own such a thing as a mule," said Lamson in a brave voice, but with a sinking heart.

"You mean you don't want to own such a thing as a mule," retorted the agent of the rejection of the city limits, which, however, he was destined not to reach. A mischievous youngster, with the idea of hurrying the animal's pace, gave it a resounding whack with a stick. A wild jump landed mule and rider in front of a passing car. A moment later found Lamson about twenty feet from the track. As soon as he could gather his temporarily scattered senses, he found that one of the animal's legs had been broken. This necessitated its being shot by a policeman, while another man, who seemed to have some authority, demanded $5 for carting the dead mule away. This Lamson gladly paid, though he was further frightened by the car conductor taking his name and address, as the car had suffered some little damage by the collision. Lamson, however, left the redress. At that time he was playing in Chicago with a small company whose manager was far in arrears with salaries. As the company was about to go to pieces a young lawyer persuaded Lamson to place with him his claim for collection. Armed with the necessary authority the lawyer proceeded to serve an attachment on the available property of the company. As a mule, used by the comedian in the first act of the play, was the only piece of property in sight, the young legal light, thinking himself exceedingly clever in securing so much for Lamson, accepted the mule and gave a receipt in full for the actor's claim.

Leaving the animal in the stable, where he was "eating his head off," the lawyer hastened to inform Lamson of his brilliant play, boasting gleefully of how he had bluffed the manager into settling in full. Though Lamson was far from pleased with the nature of the settlement, he paid the lawyer's fee of $15, and proceeded to the stable to investigate his new property, also to dispose of it.

To his dismay he found that the mule was no longer a welcome inmate of the equine boarding place, and that there were damages to pay to the extent of $10, for the animal had broken out of his stall and damaged that amount of flour that had been stored in the place. Proof was not lacking when Lamson beheld his property literally plastered with flour, and, though unwilling, was obliged to settle with the owner of the stable for the depredation committed by his mule.

Upon offering the animal to the man for a very small sum, that person wrathfully in-sters gathered about him and set up a jeering and hooting that attracted the attention of a policeman, who ordered the owner of the animal to be on his way and not block up the street. Though the scene was full of comedy, the unwilling comedian, wishing himself elsewhere, pushed through the crowd of yelling gamins and accomplished three or four blocks of distance, accompanied by a small rear guard of them. Just then an empty corner lot suggested a means of escape from his dilemma, and, turning into it, he tied the cause of his annoyance to a fence at the back of the lot, and, turning into a side street, went back to his hotel by a roundabout way. Only too glad to lose the amount of his back salary in the mule.

The end of his troubles was not yet to be, for Lamson had just begun his soup that night at dinner when a bell boy brought to him a card, bearing the name of "Henry Johnson, Humane Society." Proceeding to

Humane Society, "but this poor, abandoned animal has been traced to you, and the law says you must 'feed and care' for your property."

Lamson said he knew better than to argue with a man with a badge, so took a street car out to the vacant lot, where he found the usual crowd of small boys and a few of the neighbors gathered about his mule, and saying uncomplimentary things about its owner.

Making a "bluff" about the mule having escaped from his stable, and expressing himself as delighted to have found it, Lamson started down the street, halter in hand, to hunt a resting place for his live stock. After an aimless walk of a few blocks it suddenly occurred to him that a relative, living on a farm about ten miles distant from Chicago, might make some use of the animal. Desperately deciding to end his troubles that night, he mounted the mule and started in the di-hotel early the next morning. Thus ended his unhappy ownership of a "white mule," and never again did he seek to get possession of his salary by means of an "attachment."

Lamson and a friend were walking across Thirty-eighth Street, near the Knickerbocker Theatre, when they were accosted by a beggar. The actor, who often accords a little help to those who appear deserving, put his hand in his pocket for a nickel that, as he oddly expressed it, "wasn't working." Just as he was about to confide it to the keeping of the beggar, he looked sharply at the man, then, to the surprise of his friend, he passed on, replacing the coin in his pocket with the remark:

"Not for my money!"

"Why did you change your mind?" asked his friend.

"Because that beggar is altogether too particular and sparing of his time," replied Lamson, "I've met him before."

"How was that?" said the actor's friend, whose curiosity he gratified by relating his former experience with the mendicant.

A few days previously Lamson had been approached by the beggar with the request: "Help a poor, sick man, Sir?" Remembering that he had a few pennies mixed up in his pocket with some quarters and halves, he concluded to rid himself of the coppers and do a charitable thing besides. It took less than a minute to separate them from the silver, but that appeared to be too long a time to suit Mr. Beggar, for just as Lamson was picking out the fifth and last copper, that ragged individual, realizing the fact, said:

"Never mind the cent, hurry up and give me the others, for since you started to pick them out three or four of my best customers have passed by."

Out of Lew Dockstader's stock of a thousand or more stories of personal experiences, is the following, which was retold in a manager's office recently:

The merry minstrel man, while exchanging stories one day with a group of friends in a cafe, was introduced to a good looking young fellow, whom one of the party addressed as "Doc." After passing a few remarks with the new acquaintance, Dockstader said:

"And so you're a doctor; what division of the profession do you follow—medicine proper, teeth or feet?"

"Well," was the reply, "though I'm following the medical profession, I'm not yet a full fledged physician."

"Oh," returned Dockstader, "so you've not yet graduated," and the subject of the conversation was changed, after which it dropped entirely from the mind of the popular minstrel.

A few weeks later Dockstader attended the funeral of an acquaintance, when, to his surprise, the man who had been introduced as "Doc," appeared, and handed him, as well as other mourners, a camp stool, a service usually offered by a funeral director. After the services, when the minstrel fell into conversation with the man, he remarked:

"I understood that you were a medical student; how is it that I find you here in the capacity of—"

"Oh," interrupted the young man, "I did not tell you that—I merely said I was following the medical profession, and so I am—I'm an undertaker."

Checkers.

News of the Game.

Doubling Thomas's many, but none so strong in their convictions as Dr. Schaefer. He, when meeting an assertion from some player regarding result of game or position, invariably says: "Show it to me," implying that he wants to see it before he accepts the statement. In line with this the following is in order: "L. M. Stearns" announces a new book he is about to publish, showing an easy road to checker playing by new methods. By this "new method" he proposes to teach the raw recruit more in six months than he would acquire in five years under the old method. Rather a broad assertion. Had such a statement been made by one of the acknowledged leaders of the game—Jordan, Barker or Heffner, for instance—though dubious, we might have been anxious to become better acquainted with the modus operandi, for we would dearly love to learn in six months what it has heretofore taken five years. However, we suggest that Mr. Stearns try his own medicine first, and give practical and favorable demonstration of the result before making such a far-fetched assertion. . . . H. O. Newcombe will spend the summer in Michigan and Wisconsin, and will drift to Pittsburgh some time in the fall for a bout with Kirk for the Pittsburgh Dispatch gold challenge medal. . . . Dr. Schaefer and his automation checker and chess player will summer it at Boynton Beach, N. J. . . . The New England Checker Association, acting with the Boston Checker Club, have extended an invitation to the English and Scottish Draughts Association to visit Boston to play a team match, offering to pay entire transportation expenses from home shore to home shore, also all expenses incidental to the playing of the match. A team of ten players is suggested. A special committee, consisting of Samuel Grover, A. J. Heffner and George W. Dearborn, has been appointed to arrange all details. This undoubtedly will mix it up in grand shape for the benefit of the game.

—Notes from Belcher's Comedians: We are now organizing for what will be at least the most pretentious effort we have ever made in the support of our bright young star, Clara Belcher. Among other new ones we are just in receipt of a four act comedy drama, written for her by the author-actor, Mart W. Zelle. It is certainly fine. We want a full line of royalty rights besides this one and with our band and orchestra special scenery an clever support, we look for a pleasant and prosperous season. We have a fine line of fair dates to start off with.

—T. H. Winnett has secured the sole agency of Chas. W. Chase's well known productions and dramatizations, likewise of Chas. P. Rice's latest successes.

THE MIDGET CITY IN DREAMLAND.

That the "Midget City" is one of the leading features of "Dreamland," Coney Island, is attested by the enormous daily and nightly attendance, which reaches many thousands. The "City" is one of the most novel attractions that has ever been presented, the little people making it look like the land of Lilliput, made popular in fairy books. When the idea of the enterprise was first conceived there were those who doubted its feasibility. But Richard Pitrot was not among the doubters. He went abroad and fairly scoured Europe for little people to fill the houses, apartments, stores and bazaars which go to make up the novel place. That he succeeded in his quest is proved by the city as it is today, peopled by little folks, few of whom are over thirty-six inches in height, and a star attraction to children and grown people alike. The great success of the "Midget City" must, indeed, be gratifying to all concerned, but especially to him who conceived the idea and bore the brunt of the burden in carrying it out, namely, Richard Pitrot.

We opened at Lincoln, Me., July 1, to the capacity of the immense top, and it has been the same ever since. Now the show is blown down at Bradford, N. H., and has a severe case of pneumonia. It is O. K. now. The storm struck us at 6:10 P. M., and we were up again and showing at 8:30. Billy B. Emmond member of the company has shown his or her good will toward him, by little tokens, he had a supper served, and we settled down to enjoy the evening as only show people can. The best of feeling prevails in our company. The roster remains the same. Hyde Twins are meeting with success. Singing "Follow the Merry Crowd." NOTES FROM THE GAINES BROS. AMUSEMENT CO.—We have been playing good towns and cities in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The company's amusements consist of balloon, revolving ladders, double and single trapeze, high dive, and vaudeville show. The fourth of July was one of the best days of the season, which date we filled at Columbus, O. The outside free attractions were highly appreciated. The vaudeville show did a big business afternoon and night. At 6:30 P. M. Prof. M. E. Gaines made one of the best ascensions ever seen in this part of the country. The balloon ascension was made from the school house yard, regardless of the high gale of wind. The professor ascended a mile high and descended seven miles from the sky with his parachute, owing to the terrible wind. The spectators expected to see the aeronaut dashed to pieces, but he came out all right. The roster is as follows: M. E. Gaines, manager; Lug. Gaines, treasurer; J. J. Finnegan, aeronaut with "Stormer" balloon; No. 2, C. Clark, traps; William Roberts, the boy high wire performer; J. Finnegan and Mrs. O. L. Guillhur, revolving ladder; W. Colus, high dive; Geo. Gaines, slack wire; Miss Cook, snake charmer; O. L. Guillhur, manager, vaudeville show and iron jaw, assisted by Mrs. Guillhur, also "slide for life." This company has five more carnival engagements.

NOTES FROM THE BIDWELL & FARRELL COMEDY CO.—We are now in our twelfth week and business is at its best. The S. R. O. sign is hung out very often. We received our new top last week and everything is new from stake to bale ring. Our new act, twenty-five lights and making the tent as light as day. Elmer Walker is in advance, with three assistants, and he certainly does look out for that end of it. Roster is as follows: Clarence D. Bidwell, song illustrator; Billy Farrell, Irish comedian; Hineckey and Evers, black face comedians; J. J. Finnegan, double and single traps; Munson and Hart, sketch team; Viola Hewes, snake charmer. The canvas is in charge of Ben Casey and four assistants. The manager will put out a road company next Winter, and has the booking for same.

Weber, in double voice singing; Leona Hanna, singing soprano; Harry Weber, Harry Weber, boy soprano; Gracie McMillen and Mamie Brown; Harry Saysbury, boss canvas man. We carry a band of eight pieces. All are enjoying the best of health. Louie Bowman, juggler, joins us July 30. Our friend, THE CLIPPER, is with us every week.

NOTES FROM THE CRACKER JACKS AND VANITY FAIR CO.—The time is drawing near when the members of these companies will begin work in earnest. Bob Manchester has been working hard to Summer to perfect in detail everything appertaining to these companies, and when the season opens it is safe to say that they will be better equipped than ever. The costumes are certainly a marvel of art, and will create much talk. The scenic electrical effects are a novel, and the two shows, from start to finish, will be all that money and talent can make them. The Cracker Jacks open the season Friday, Aug. 19, at Elizabeth, with the London to follow. The Vanity Fair opens at Brooklyn, Aug. 20, at Reading Park, with Scranton to follow. Sixty people comprise the two shows, and, as far as burlesque companies go, ours could be played in legitimate houses and win laurels, for the only thing left in either form is the time.

THE MILLER BROS., with their new diorama, opened July 25 their sixth week at Seattle, Wash.

ALICE PORTER, who was hurt very badly about the head and body by being thrown against a post while in bathing, week of July 18, at Atlantic City, has recovered sufficiently to commence her rehearsals.

McINNERNEY'S THEATRICAL GOLD CREAM.

There are many Cold Cream Preparations on the market today. Some are GOOD—others are BETTER—but McInnerney's is BEST. The ingredients of McInnerney's Cold Cream are pure and harmless, and when you once use this preparation you will want no other. Other good qualities in its favor are its delicate perfume, smooth whiteness and cooling properties. And it does not cost as much as many of the far inferior preparations.

Blaisdel, Clarence Hall, and a large number. Chas. Kerker, Eddie Fitzgerald, Edna and Corliss are actresses on the executive staff. Gustave Kerker and Harry L. Smith have written the musical sparry, entitled, "The Sambo Girl."

Walter E. Perkins has signed with Harry Ducl Parke for the "Under Southern Skies" Co. (Western).

Walter E. Perkins, the actor and theatrical manager, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $12,511, and assets $1,325.

POINT OF PINES (Wm. H. O'Neill, manager).—After a week's vacation this resort reopened to the public, a license to give day shows having been obtained by the agement. The rustic theatre bill for current week is a strong one, and includes: Bellman and Moore, Anderson and Briggs, Kittle Bingham, Bennett and Rich, Monroe and Rice, and the Ushers. The Sunday bill consisted of the above entertainers and also Marion Manola, Minnie Emmett, and Alabama Quartet. Preparations are now well under way for a presentation of the sensational head-on collision, which had to be postponed on July 4 owing to the poor handling of the large crowd. Arrangements have been made to handle the crowd, and a repetition of the July 4th riot will be avoided. The collision is to take place on the afternoon of Aug. 20.

Classical Garden (Wm. H. O'Neil, manager).—This week the funmakers are: James and Bonnie Farley, Crowley and Foley, Copping and White, Gilman and Allen, McPhail and Boyd, and Alabama Quartet.

North Adams. (At the Purchase Street Theatre.)—The Village Choir, Hackett Brothers, Craven and Carey, Frank Whitman, and the komograph are announced for week of Aug. 8. Thus far the season has been an excellent one at this park.

Lexington Park (J. W. Gorman, manager).—Booked here for the week of Aug. 8 and 9 are: Eddie and Elmer, Frank and Mattie Walsh, Rice and Elmer, Jennie May and Marron, Henella, Charles Colby, and the komograph.

Medford Boulevard Theatre (J. W. Gorman, manager).—Week of Aug. 8: H. G. Gorman, Curly and Elmer, and the komograph. The week of Aug. 9: H. G. Gorman, Curly and Elmer, and the komograph.

Gossip of the Stage. Joseph Jefferson begins his travels in Boston Oct. 17. The road tour of "The Other Girl" begins in this city Sept. 26. Harry Connor, of this city, will remain with "Vivian's Pages" at the rest of the season. Edmund Brees, formerly of the Castle Square Stock, has been engaged for the role of Jeff Cahill, in "Ransom's Polly." Marion Forde, who was recently with "Woodland" in "Gracie," has joined "Woodland" in "Gracie." Sidney, in "Busby," starts his tour at Holyoke, at the Opera House, on Aug. 22. Francis Wilson does not begin his tour until Nov. 7, when he opens at the Hollis.

Geo. F. Matthews, treasurer of the Col. Wood, of Upton. Frances Ring, of this city, has been engaged by Henry W. Savage for the role of Lucy Rigby, in the Eastern "County Chairman." Arthur Hurley, of South Boston, has signed under the management of James J. Barrett as manager for "The Crisis." Henry Irving Marshall, of Roxbury, has returned to New York for rehearsals with the Shubert Brothers, of whose "The Runaways" Co. he was a member last season.

Springfield. At the Court Square Theatre (W. C. Le Noir, manager) the Corpe Theatre Stock Co. opened its season and the house season Aug. 1, and played to good returns all week. Ethel Tucker and Thomas B. Alexander, two new members, made a good impression. Doris Lombard, Ida Thompson, Harry Mantell and Elyse Davis, old favorites, were accorded a warm reception. Same company 7-13, with the exception of 12, when Dock-stader's Minstrels will show. Corpe Theatre's Own Co. 14-27.

Notes.—The New Gilmore Theatre will open its season Aug. 29 and run melodramas, as in the past two seasons. The Nelson Theatre will commence a week earlier, Aug. 22, and will play burlesque three days and vaudeville the other half of the week. The Grand Opera House will open its season Aug. 1, and will play burlesque three days and vaudeville the other half of the week.

Notes.—The Westfield Opera House is still undecided. Wallace & Gilmore, lessees of the house last season, have the privilege of renewing their lease, but it is reported that they do not intend to do so. The house is now managed by C. Clinton Clark, who managed the house season before last, again taking up the reins of management, but as he is away the truth of the rumor cannot be proved.

Great Barrington is soon to have a theatre. Last week a syndicate consisting of Harry Mantell and Elyse Davis, old favorites, were accorded a warm reception. Same company 7-13, with the exception of 12, when Dock-stader's Minstrels will show. Corpe Theatre's Own Co. 14-27.

Notes.—The Nashville Troubadours, playing at Valley Park during the past week, met with serious drawbacks owing to the illness of some of its members. The first to fall ill was Daisy Butler, who is now confined to the hospital in this city, and the second member, "Billy" Harper, was stricken with appendicitis Thursday night.

and presents a most pleasing appearance. High class vaudeville and burlesque will be presented. If the patronage at the opening is to be taken as a criterion, the season will be a most successful one. The opening bill Harris and Wilson, Richards and Burns, James Carroll, James Burns, Larson Sisters, May Lorraine and Leola Hanson. The Hackett way Shelly differences were finally settled the past week. Andrew E. Hathaway, in control of the Purchase Street Theatre and Michael J. Shelly will return to the Union Street house. Both houses will be conducted on straight vaudeville lines during the regular season.

Lowell.—The parks did a banner business last week. Picnics galore filled the resorts to overflowing. Band concerts are to be held as usual at Lakeview and Canobie Aug. 7, the Haverhill City Band, with Eva Brooks Flinn, soprano, as the star, will entertain at Canobie.

Lakeview Theatre (J. J. Flynn, manager).—The Gorman, in "Jack and the Beanstalk," filled the house, the evening of last week. John E. Gorman, George Gorman, George McFarlane, Frank Edwards, Rose La Harle, Hazel Lowry, and Alletta Bridgeford did very clever work. Special scenery and effects gave the opera an artistic appearance. "Jack and the Beanstalk," with the same company, is entertaining this week.

Willowdale Park (Bowers Brothers, managers).—Business continues good here, with vaudeville in the theatre and the grounds and lake entertainments of picnics.

Canobie Lake Park (J. W. Gorman, manager).—Ward and Curran, in "The Terrible Judge," headed last week's bill, and business was about the best of the season. Gorman, J. W. Gorman's International Vaudeville Co., with Howe, Gano and Walters, Melvin Brothers, Charles Edwards, and Hoyt and Burke. As a special outdoor attraction the diving horses, King and Queen, entertain afternoon and evening.

Hampton Beach Casino (Wm. H. Philney, manager).—Ideal beach weather brought big crowds to this popular resort during last week. In the casino this week are J. W. Gorman's Impertials, including the Rice Trio, Howley and Leslie, Reed and Shaw, "Chalk Saunders," and the komograph.

Menton.—John Burns goes with one of the Bennett-Moulton companies the coming season, to play juvenile roles. Sherman Cotes and Dan Kilgus, of the Nashville Troubadours, are Lowell boys; the latter being the musical director of the company.

GOLDEN GATE GLEANINGS.

"Joseph Entangled" Receives Its American Premier at the Columbia—Business Continues Good at the Various Houses.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—At the Columbia Theatre this is the third week of Henry Miller. He presented last night, for the first time in America, Henry Arthur Jones' new play, "Joseph Entangled," with Hilda Spong in the principal male role. The performance was excellent and the play was well liked.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—This is the fourth week of Elmer & Jules Walters' Co. Their engagement has been extended three weeks, making six weeks in all. "A Millionaire Tramp" is the current bill.

ALCAZAR THEATRE.—White Whitlesey is now in his seventh week. "Sheridan, or the Maid of Bath," is this week's bill.

CENTRAL THEATRE.—"A Bunch of Keys" is the bill this week, with Jim Corrigan as a special feature.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Current is the sixth week of the James Neil Co. "A Parisian Romance" is the bill.

TIVOLI OPERA HOUSE.—"The Toreador" is in its second week.

FISCHER'S THEATRE.—"The Whirl of the Town" opened its second week last night. Business is very large.

OPHEUM.—Bill for this week, opening Sunday, 7: The Four Madcaps, Foy and Clark, Guyer and O'Neill, Olive May and J. W. Albaugh, Les Olopas, Hughes Musical Trio, McCabe, Sabine and Vera, the Empire Comedy Four, and the biograph.

CHUTES.—Programme for week opening 8: Campbell and Johnson, Cooper and Rodgers, James T. Dervin, Charles P. Lowe, Leslie's trained pigs, Mabel Lamson, and the anti-matSCOPE.

NOTE.—The marriage of Edward H. Chapman, formerly manager of the Dewey Theatre, and Alda B. Cassie, of Oakland, was solemnized July 28, at the Palace Hotel, in this city. The Rev. John A. B. Wilson officiated. Donna Warren, of this city, attended the bride, and George A. McGowan was best man.

FROM OTHER POINTS.

Dawn of the New Season at Various Points Shows Good Business—Summer Shows Still Doing Well.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Two more theatres opened this week—the Studebaker, Monday night, with "The Yankee Consul," and the Alhambra, Sunday afternoon, with "On the Bridge at Midnight." Business was excellent, the Alhambra turning hundreds away.

Sunday was cool and pleasant, the night crowds being on capacity order everywhere. "Mrs. Wiggs, of the Cabbage Patch," at the Grand; "Vivian's Pappas," at Powers; "The Royal Chef," at the Garrick; and "Forbidden Land," at the Illinois, were continued attractions. Marcel's Art Studios were feature of a vaudeville bill which packed the Chicago Opera House to capacity. Stock burlesque crowded Sam T. Jack's to the limit. Cool weather restricted the attendance at Sans Souci, the Water Chutes and Riverview Parks. Amelia Bingham has been booked to play Powers' a fortnight, opening Aug. 21. Gus Weinberg has been engaged to succeed John. Herbert in "Forbidden Land," opening next Saturday. Brooke's Band continues to crowd Coliseum. "Buster Brown" attracts capacity business to the Great Northern. It will possibly be the last attraction this house will ever play.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The weather was just about right yesterday, and so was the attendance at our amusement places. "Woodland," at the Tremont, began its sixteenth week with a good house, and same may be said of "Isle of Spice," now in its fourteenth week at the Globe. A well filled house saw "The Wolf's Paradise" at the Grand Opera. Stock houses opened week well with interesting bills. The Howard is now open for the season 1904-05. Yesterday's business was good. Keith's, the Palace, Austin & Stone's and Nickelodeon shared in the above patronage. "The Old Mill," at Revere Beach, was burned to the ground Sunday afternoon. No lives were lost, but great excitement prevailed.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9.—Lincoln J. Carter's "The Flaming Arrow" opened the second week of the Gillis season with a good Sunday matinee, and a big night house. Both parks were packed Sunday. At Forest Park, in Hopkins Theatre, Papinta remained over as the feature for her second week. At Electric Park Sorrentino and the Banda Rossa continue to be the attraction. At Sportmans' Park Pain's Pompeii closed a very successful three weeks' engagement with a big house Sunday night.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—Propitious weather last night helped the openings, and alluring attractions did the rest. Blaney's Arch Street Theatre began the season admirably, "Across the Pacific" drawing large, appreciative audiences, afternoon and evening. "The Private Secretary," at the Bijou, proved a popular attraction, while vaudeville of a high grade earned many plaudits at Keith's. Good sized audiences greeted the Oriental Mads, at the Lyceum, and the parks all fared well.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 9.—A packed house marked the opening of the season at the Avenue Theatre, Sunday, when "Hearts of Chicago" began a week's engagement. Innes and his band opened at Hockey Club Park, to a big crowd.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—The weather here is better suited to pedestrianism and other exertions, and as a result attendance at many resorts where entertainment is provided has taken an upward jump.

THE WORLD'S FAIR, with its numerous attractions, is offering generous bids for patronage, but things are still a trifle dull. IMPERIAL THEATRE (D. E. Russell, manager).—Blanche Bates, in "The Darling of the Gods," has made a success of big proportions, and the press is still warm in its praise of the production. GRAND (John F. Sheehy, manager).—This house opened with "The Burgomaster" Sunday night, 7.

OLYMPIC (P. Short, manager).—"Way Down East" is doing well here.

HAYLIS (Wm. Gorman, manager).—"What Women Will Do" is the new offering at this house.

ODEON (Geo. F. Olendorf, manager).—Blossy Kiralfy is doing well with his "Louisiana."

DELMAR GARDEN (J. C. Jannopoulou, manager).—The Hayes-Hall-Heindel "Louisiana" spectacle passed its one hundredth performance here Saturday night, 6.

CRAWFORD (O. T. Crawford, manager).—Nettie de Coursey, in "An Orphan's Prayer," is the current offering.

STANDARD (Leo Reichenbach, manager).—The regular season at this house was begun night of Sunday, 7, with the Brigadier Burlesques.

FOREST PARK HIGHLANDS (Col. Hopkins, manager).—Bill for week beginning 7: Kitamura's Japs, gymnasts and magicians; are the headlines; Press Eldridge, Ed. Reynard and his mechanical figures, the Stein-Erette Family, Bickel and Watson, and Louise Brehan, are among the best. The Rader Boys, singers and dancers, are a special feature.

MANNION'S PARK (Archie M. Cox, manager).—Current bill includes: Herr Saonati, impersonator; Gruet and Gruet, farceurs; Inez Mecusker, vocalist; Jones and Walton, comedians, and Davis and Hurley, acrobats.

SUBURBAN PARK (H. E. Rice, manager).—"Factory Girls" (Ed. Phil B. Isaac, mgr.) is the current offering.

ED. ZERRETT writes from Schenectady, N. Y., under date of Aug. 4: "The Dobbins Summer Theatre, of this place, owned by Wm. E. Dobbins, collapsed today, at 11.30 A. M., burying performers' trunks and dressing rooms in the ruins. All wardrobe was destroyed, but no lives were lost. The people on the bill for the week were: Gardner and Goodrich, Richard Raven, Jinks and Jinks, who were heavy losers, as all their musical instruments were in the dressing rooms; Miss De Novelly, the Nasmiths, and May Merrill. Mr. Dobbins' loss is estimated at $5,000. He contemplates tearing everything out and rebuilding a regular theatre for vaudeville performance. All performers playing here are thankful that there was no one killed."

LEON HERRMANN writes: "I have just closed my engagement with the Manhattan Beach Theatre, after a run of ten consecutive weeks. The engagement proved a great success. I am now busy rehearsing an entirely new act for my coming tour in vaudeville. The act will be one of the most elaborate thirty-minute performance ever presented by any troupe. One of the features will be a Hindoo, whose name is Mahomed Khan. He will take part in one of the many illusions originated by me."

POTTS AND POTTS, "The Musical Japs," write: "We opened a week's engagement at Athletic Park, Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 1. While this was our first appearance in Buffalo, at the rise of the curtain we were extended an ovation seldom given new faces and responded many times to encores. The Buffalo press is also very lavish in praise of our act. We play tonight, Aug. 8, 13, making our twelfth week here this summer."

THE GREAT KOSTER informs us that he played Springfield Casino, South Bend, Ind., week July 31, closing the show with his sensational aerial act. Millie Clio's monologue and character change from Southern to male attire is always a surprise to the audience, and Mr. Koster finds no trouble in booking two single acts jointly.

THE PEOPLE at Shady's Freebody Park Theatre (Chas. E. Cook, manager), Newport, R. I., week of Aug. 8, Wm. Watson, Hinchings and Edwards, Harry L. Clair, Misses Ford and May, Prentiss Trio, Ford and Wilson, Regnaud and May, Hall and Hughes, Daisy Dupont, and the vaudeville.

MILK. CARRE played at Robinson Park, Fort Wayne, Ind., and reports meeting with great success.

PATSY DOVYE, who is playing at the Casino Theatre, Toledo, O., writes: "I have been taking baths here, and have entirely recovered from my old enemy, rheumatism."

EDWARD CURRIAN, of Curran and Milton, writes: "I have leased and taken the management of the Andover Theatre, Andover, N. H. The house was opened Monday, Aug. 1, to capacity business and was continued throughout the week with the following people: Ravetta, magician; Williams and Mayer, in a laughable sketch; the Two Coltrons, Edw. Leo, in illustrated songs; C. Farr, pianist; Curran and Milton, in a society act, and the Sellig polychrome, which was purchased and will be operated by me. The house is doing a fine business and everything is booming. Cressy for a few weeks at their summer house, Lake Superior, N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell will soon produce a new and novel singing and comedy playlet, written especially for them by Mr. Cressy, entitled "Hans Wagner, of Avenue A."

HI TOM WARD writes: "On Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 3, I made a balloon ascension at Riverside Park, Montreal, Can. I went up to the height of two thousand feet, and came down just outside of the park fence."

CAPT. BONAVITA, the lion tamer, who was hurt by one of his lions at Boston's Animal Show, Dreamland, has been pronounced out of danger at the Reception Hospital, Coney Island, N. Y.

THE SPECIAL FEATURES at the Dominion Exhibition, at Winnipeg, Man., have in the majority of instances done good business. Col. Maudie's shows especially did well, the animal exhibition being voted the best that was seen on the grounds. Other extra attractions outside the grand stand performance was the bloscope, Venice, etc. In front of the grand stand have appeared to admiring crowds the Four Madcaps, Chetoff, the chasm leaper and loop the loop man, who had a little boy born to him on the grounds under canvas; the Banvards, aerialists, fourteen in number; Adgie, and her lions; Kleu-Ort and Nickerson, Wilton Bros. and Ricobono and his horses. The spectacle and fireworks being termed the "Battle of Inkerman." Military evolutions, by Canadian volunteers and regulars, with the racing, which is of an excellent character, make up the features of the greatest fair ever held in Western Canada.

JOHNSON and DEAN write, under date of July 27, from Paris: "Owing to phenomenal success in Budapest, May and June, our engagements were prolonged for the rest of the summer season, with permission to play the Alhambra Theatre, Paris, during the month of July. During the parade the band will play all the songs which we made popular last month in Budapest."

He has not made any plans as yet for the winter, but will be identified with some road attraction.

Music and Song.

Max Hoffman, the popular composer and musical director, who writes the music for the Rogers Brothers' productions, under direction of Klaw & Erlanger, has joined the Witmark composers corps, and in the future will publish his songs and instrumental numbers through that house exclusively. Mr. Hoffman, who has come to the front at a surprising rate within the past few seasons, has back of him an undoubted ability as a production composer and director, a practical experience that comparatively few writers for the stage have enjoyed. From boyhood he studied violin, piano and harmony, and when a mere boy made his debut as first violin of Dana's Symphony Orchestra, in St. Paul, Minn. He then was engaged by George C. to lead the Olympic Theatre Orchestra, in Chicago, where he wielded the baton for several seasons and learned to interpret every sort of score, from song and dance to operatic selections. Gradually, as he learned the popular taste, he began writing songs and instrumental numbers of his own, with such success that he was engaged by Matthews & Bulger to compose the entire score for George A. S. This organization developed into the Dunne, Harlan & Wells Musical Comedy Co., one of the most successful in the stage history of the South, and for it Mr. Hoffman wrote the lyrics and the music for twenty-two different plays during the three seasons he was connected with it. Moreover, they were all staged by his wife, so the most of the credit belonged to the house of Hoffman. Klaw & Erlanger made him an offer, and as soon as he had completed his contract with Mr. Wells he joined "The Rogers Brothers in London," writing several of their big song successes, including "Under the Sycamore Tree." He has composed the entire score for "The Rogers Brothers in Paris," which opens at the Grand, under the musical direction of Mr. Hoffman, who also has several other contracts on hand.

Edouard de Reszke stated last week that during a visit to London recently with his brother Jean, they were commanded to sing before the king and queen. They sang five times during their twelve days' stay, and were decorated by King Edward with the Order of Art, Science and Music.

A. H. Knoll, cornettist and director of the Majestic Hotel Orchestra, Hot Springs, Ark., was recently presented with a gold cornet.

CHILDREN OF THE STAGE.

BY AUNT LOUISA ELDREDGE.

It is a great mistake that the most people labor under to think that the child actors and actresses are overworked, ill treated or unhappy, for it is not so. There is not a child among them that is not kindly treated by every member of the company, and loved according to their good or bad conduct, but it is only fair to say that nearly all the children of the stage are well behaved and lovable.

Their health is carefully watched, and they are well fed and protected from bad weather and draughts of air, and those whose parts require them to be up late, are persuaded to take a nap of a couple of hours in the afternoon. These little stars seldom go to school, but they have home training, which allows a large amount of rest and time for outdoor exercise, which they are encouraged to take by way of tonic. Their hours of study, rest, diet, clothing and bathing, are all fixed and administered with a care and regularity that insures their health, and indeed they are all bright and rosy. And healthy, too.

The actors and actresses make pets of them and always have some little trifle in their pockets for the child actor or actress. Often the leading man will be seen trotting around with the velvet gown on his shoulder, or the heroine of the play will be seen busily engaged dressing a doll for the little girl or helping to make a kite for the boy. Georgia Cuyvan was never so happy as when she could get a party of the little children of the stage off with her for a day in the park, and it is that way all through the profession.

The first children I remember to have been on the stage were the Batemans, Kate and Elsie. They did not have pretty parts written on purpose for them where they could be just their own natural little selves, but they played in the legitimate drama of the old school, and I remember seeing them play in Barnum's Museum, in Philadelphia, in "Richard III" and "Macbeth." One of them was Richard, and the other had the next strongest part in that tragedy, and it was wonderful how well they played those heavy parts. In one of them one child was Lady Macbeth, and she gave the dagger scene with a tremor. She was a very good deal, and both dressed in velvet a good deal, and it became them well. They did not do the whole play, as that would have been too arduous for such children, so they did only certain acts which were considered as the most powerful, and other members of the company took their places at other times.

I remember, too, of seeing them play "The Merchant of Venice," one being Shylock and the other Portia. Of the two Ellen was the more clever.

In those days there used to be a farce, in one act, before the tragedy or after, and they used to play in one called "Little Pickle," and they did it well, too, but they both preferred the legitimate, as it was more suited to what they considered their dignity.

Among the dear children whom I have known on the stage are: Wallie Eddinger, Tommy Russell, Gracie Paulin, Bijou Fernandez, Baby Wood, Elsie Leslie and Pressy Eddinger, my little grandson. Strange it seems to me now to be obliged to think of all as grown up and taking their part as men and women in the world's work today. Wallie Eddinger first played in "Among the Pines," at the People's Theatre, where Mary Fiske saw him and instantly decided that he, and he only, should take the tender and touching child's part in her beautiful play of "Philip Herne." This play was brought out with success a short time before her sad death, which has left an empty place in my heart that can never be filled. She was the truest friend, and had the kindest heart of any one I ever knew, and how much she loved children, and how much children loved her, words cannot tell. Even the homeless and desolate dogs found in her a friend and refuge.

She chose Wallie Eddinger, and he won everybody's heart as a little girl who loved her doll next to her ill treated and unhappy brother. After he had finished his engagement in the play Wallie traveled all through the country as little Lord Fauntleroy.

Tommy Russell began playing at a very early age. I remember him in "May Blossom." I was playing Aunt Debby, in "May Blossom," that season, and there is a part in it where the little girl's pet bird dies, and she gets all her child friends and they have a funeral and bury the bird and kneel about the little grave. Some of the children were small, only two and three years old, and one, the smallest, has to say "poor little bird, it is really dead," and he could only say "poor little bird, it is really dead," and when they all got down on their knees, he threw his little head back so far that it was in danger of falling off.

One night my little grandson, Harwood Ryan (I have two grandsons), was there and went on with the rest of the children, and managed to do all they did in proper manner, though but two years old, when the big chandelier attracted his eyes and he wouldn't leave the stage with the rest of the children, but advanced to the footlight and held out both hands, working his fingers eagerly, as he said: "Me want it, me want it."

Harwood's mother, known on the stage as Lillie Eldridge, began her stage life when she was five years old in Barnum's Museum, in Philadelphia, as the child in "The Stranger," and played in child parts until she grew up.

Pressy Eddinger, my other grandson, has played almost everywhere, and doubtless most of the readers of this have heard him sing and dance and play. I cannot, somehow, seem to understand that time does not stand still for children, and that they will grow old like the rest of us.

Bijou Fernandez was a pretty little girl, and a very clever and lovable one. She is now a full blown actress, in the "May Blossom" company she had a very pretty part. Tommy Russell, now in Wall Street, was a little for there in a sailor suit, with long pretty curls, and the principal thing he did was to declare that he was just spoiling for a fight, and dared anyone to knock a chip off his shoulder. Elsie Leslie made a reputation for talent that will make it difficult to maintain now that she is grown up into sweet and lovely womanhood.

One night I had to laugh, as did the audience, at a little incident that happened to Lucille Western when she was playing in "Leah, the Forsaken." In this play is a little girl who is asked by the star: "What is your name, little one?"

Lucille Western had been obliged to engage a little girl inexperienced in stage matters, and when the time came to ask "What is your name, little one?" the child lifted up her small head and screamed out innocently, "Mary Murphy."

Poor Miss Western tried to cover this by saying: "Your name is Leah, is it not?" But the youngsters sturdily replied, "No, it is Mary Murphy."

This brought the house down and spoiled the whole play. Many, many things are stored in memory of the doings of the children of other days, and I love to think of them and it matters little to me that those same children are men and women now, since they will always be children to me.

A NOVEL PERFORMANCE.

A theatrical performance out of the ordinary took place at the Garrick Theatre, 47, Aug. 10, for a charity benefit. After "The Fairy's Dilemma," the regular bill at the Garrick, another play, by W. S. Gilbert, which was written some forty years ago, and had not been seen in London for a long time, was put on. Mr. Gilbert's work was "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern," a parody on "Hamlet." The odd feature of the performance was that all the roles in the burlesque were taken by eminent playwrights, and the cast included such names as Capt. Marshall, Anthony Hope, Bernard Shaw and W. S. Gilbert, who played King Claudius.

In the plot it appears that King Claudius had in his youth written a five act tragedy so bad that it ran for only ten minutes and received a tender subject to Claudius, and as he tells his queen, although the play was already five acts too long, he added a sixth, an act by which the penalty of death was meted out to all who sneered at the play. The odd mention of the ill fated tragedy is also fatal.

The Hamlet of the parody has the same tendency to soliloquy which Shakespeare's hero exhibits, and causes considerable distress at the court by falling into a melancholy monologue on all occasions. Consequently Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are summoned and invited to try to put a stop to the unfortunate young man's mania for soliloquy. Ophelia, who is the daughter of the Lord Chamberlain, has been betrothed to Hamlet, but does not care for the prince, and cherishes a fondness for Rosencrantz, a plan is concocted to get Hamlet out of the way.

The one remaining copy of Claudius' tragedy is in the possession of the Lord Chamberlain, and at the suggestion of Rosencrantz Ophelia steals it from his study. Then Hamlet, all unconsciously of the traitorous conspiracy, is persuaded to act it, and as the chief part contains many soliloquies the prince is delighted, and with the help of some strolling players presents the tragedy before the court.

Claudius is enraged at seeing the taboored tragedy presented before the court with the prince in the star role, and poor Hamlet is sentenced to be banished to a country called "England-land," where dwells a cultured race who will enshrine this exile in their hearts. As Claudius says, he believes the people there will put up with that sort of thing.

Hamlet, according to Ophelia, "is idiotically sane, with lucid intervals of insanity." Instead of acting them. Other distinguished playwrights had "thinking parts." Anthony Hope, Col. Newnam Davis, Edward Rose and others, while Lady Colin Campbell was the Queen, and Madeline Lucette Ryley was Ophelia.

The play was so amusing as to please even those who regard a parody of Shakespeare as a sacrilege.

THE LITTLE WHIRLWIND JUGGLER,

JOHNNIE REILLY.

NEW YORK CITY.

Review and Comment.—The opening of several amusement resorts last week gave evidence of the early approach of the new theatrical season, and while the weather was more propitious for out door than indoor performances, nevertheless resorts of all kinds wound up the week with a good balance on the right side of their ledgers. . . . HUBER'S MUSEUM opened its doors Monday, Aug. 1. The ACADEMY OF MUSIC followed 4, and the STAR THEATRE began the season Saturday night, 6. . . . At the ACADEMY, 4, Liebler & Co. gave an elaborate revival of "The Eternal City," and the STAR had for its attraction the Black Patti Troubadours, under the management of Voelkel & Nolan. . . . The continued attractions for the week ending Aug. 6 were: "The Maid and the Mummy" at the NEW YORK, "Piff! Paff! Puff!" at the CASINO, "Paris by Night" at the MADISON SQUARE ROOF GARDEN, "A Little of Everything" at the AERIAL GARDENS, "The Eternal City" at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, and Black Patti's Troubadours at the STAR. At PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE and ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH STREET THEATRES stock productions, with vaudeville between the acts, continued. . . . The one week stands closing 6 were: "A Child of the Slums" at the THIRD AVENUE, and "The Road to Ruin" at the PEOPLE'S. . . . Variety entertainment was furnished at PARADISE ROOF GARDENS, the NEW YORK ROOF GARDEN, KEITH'S UNION SQUARE, PROCTOR'S TWENTY-THIRD STREET, TONY PASTOR'S and the WEST TWENTY-NINTH STREET THEATRE. At HUBER'S MUSEUM the usual long list of curios and vaudeville prevailed.

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre (J. Austin Fynes, general manager).—A capital performance of "Caprice," one of Mrs. Fiske's earlier successes, was the magnet at this house Aug. 8, for the week, a good sized matinee and a big night audience giving vent to pleasure at the performance in a deal of laughter and applause. It was evident that special care had been given the production, and the cast was a well chosen one. Jessie Izett played the name role and gave such a charm and naturalness to the impetuous emotion that she was given unmistakable evidences of favor from all parts of the house. Hugh Ford gave another of his cleverly conceived and well rendered bits of character work, and made a decided success, while Marion Berg, in added another to her list of triumphs won since her installation as a member of the house stock company. Albert Roberts did some excellent work, and W. A. Butler, Vernon Cargis, Matilda Deshon and the others of the company also rendered good accounts of themselves. The cast: Jack Henderson, Wallace Erskine; Jethro Baxter, Hugh Ford; Mr. Henderson, Vernon Cargis; Wally Henderson, H. Dudley Hawley; Harry Woodthorpe, Wm. Hawley; Philander Potts, W. A. Butler; Jack, Albert Roberts; William Henry Miller Jr.; Mercey Baxter ("Caprice"); Jessie Izett; Edith Henderson; Marion Berg; Mrs. Emma Watson; Mrs. Matilda Deshon. In the vaudeville bill were: The Kluge Trio, presenting neat, richly decorated, singing and musical specialty; the Imperial Comedy Four, who present some good singing in the form of a sketch; Minnie Harrison, singing comedienne, in a pleasing offering; the La Rous, with their excellent ring and excellent transformation scenes, in singing and dancing specialty; the Alpha Trio, in "The Bell Boys' Trip," which went well, and Barnes and Washburn, duettists. The kaleidoscope continues.

Academy of Music.—Gilmore & Tompkins, managers. This house opened its regular season on Thursday, Aug. 4, with Edward Morgan, in "The Eternal City," which Viola Allen used successfully as a starting vehicle several seasons ago. Mr. Morgan, who acted the role of David Ross, the laborer, in support of Miss Allen, is now starting in the play and his reception on the opening night was a most cordial one. An audience that completely filled the big academy was on hand to set the seal of approval upon the managerial policy of opening the house with the role of the season's amusement places, and the stirring scenes of Hall Caine's melodramatic success kept the auditors in their seats until the final curtain, which did not fall until almost midnight. Mr. Morgan did capital work, especially in the strong scene in act four, where the prime minister meets his fate. Janet Waldorf, as the new Donna Roma, proved very pleasing as to personality and effective in the delivery of her lines. She gave no evidence of being a novice in her acting, however, and the absence of shading in the portrayal was a conspicuous drawback. W. E. Bonney duplicated the tremendous success he made when he created the role in which he appears and was again honored by an enthusiastic curtain call, while Frederic de Belleville's artistic work was once again a joy to the student of finished acting. Frank C. Bangs was the new Pope and he did only fairly well with the role. The others in the company were competent, and the staging of the play, with the fine opportunities which this roomy stage gives, was most commendable. The cast: David Ross, Edward Morgan; Baron Bonelli, Frederic de Belleville; His Holiness, Frank C. Bangs; Father Piffel, W. E. Bonney; Tholomeus, Maestro de Camera, Edgar Kent; Captain of Noble Guards, J. P. McDonough; Bruno Rocco, W. E. Bonney; Elena, May Stuart; Little Joseph, Barbe Bertrand; Tommaso, Mariotti; Frank P. Stone; Luigi, Frank Bixby; Charles Minnelli; Henry Harrison, General Potter; Barton, Hearn; Sir Evelyn Wise, Malcolm Barrett; Don Camillo, Mitchell; Warner Oland; Princess Bellini, Helen Weatherby; Signora Cortesi, Augusta Bertrand; Signora Cortesi, Inez Marcell; General Morra, Jefferson Lloyd; Major Doria, J. S. Edwards; Signorina Doria, Althea Lewis; Commendatore Angelini, W. H. Sadler; Monsignor, Arthur B. Hewitt; Captain Conti, Albert Ross; Felice, William Exille; Natalina, Maud Warlow; Giuseppe, South, McNeil; Giovanni, Lytleton; Magruder, Donna Roma Volonna; Janet Waldorf.

Third Avenue Theatre (Martin J. Dixon, manager).—"A Worsening Girl's Wrongs" is this week's bill. The cast is as follows: Jack Fallon, Will W. Crimmins; Anselah Wharton, Harry L. Barker; Dickie Malone, Billy Barlow; "Still Bill" Lawrence, Augustin Gassmire; Thomas Bates, Phil Gastrock; Henry Davis, Frank Barrett; Walter Jones, Walter Scott; John Watson, Gordon Armstrong; Rev. Abel Ashton, W. A. Dempsey; Mike O'Colligan, Frank Snyder; Annie Lawrence, Evelyn Forbes; Katie Kerrigan, Belle Darr; Mrs. Mahoy, Polly Hazel; Little Boss, Little Ethel; Mamie Malloy, Helen Warren; Howard Wall is manager. No performance was given Monday evening, Aug. 8, to enable the management to make certain alterations necessary to conform with the building regulations. Next week, "The Sign of Life."

Madison Square Roof Garden (Weber & Rosh, managers).—"Paris by Night" is its sixth week.

Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre (J. Austin Fynes, general manager).—Another recruit from the legitimate made his debut at this house on Aug. 8, in the person of Edward R. Mawson, who presented a dramatic playlet, written by Helen I. Mawson and himself, entitled "On the Verge," which was then given its first presentation. The story it unfolds is that of a young Wall Street speculator, who is playing for high stakes in the street and is threatened with ruin. His wife urges him to give up the life of nerve racking speculation and he promises to accompany her on a trip to the country. But the knowledge that his father-in-law has valuable bonds in the safe of their home, within his easy reach, greatly preys upon his mind and he determines to secure them, to use them for one day until his grand coup shall make him a fortune. He lies down on the sofa while his wife is out and awakening in the night, opens the safe to take the bonds, is surprised by his wife's father and kills him in a struggle. Frantic at his deed, he is surprised by the return of his wife, who screams for her father. The elder man appears in answer to her cry, and the husband is greatly relieved to find that the murder was only a dream due to his nervous condition. The playlet interested the audience and the work of Mr. Mawson and Helen Holland was most commendable, while Frank E. Jamison did capital as the father. Keno, Welch and Melrose, in their highly perfected comedy acrobatic act, had no difficulty in landing a most emphatic success and were taken leave of by the audience with regret. Karoly's melody, one of a mechanical orchestra offering, which has the element of novelty coupled with musical excellence, was a well liked introduction. The present instrument is said to be a great improvement upon the one which was first shown here several years ago, and it is certain that the odd device has a full, round tone which is most effective. The Ford Brothers performed some dancing feats which were remarkably good, and the Aerial Shaws, in a thrilling trapeze act, were liberally rewarded with applause that was beyond doubt well merited. George H. Brown and company, in the one act comedy, "Getting a Job," did some most agreeable work in the humorous line, and fully earned the marks of approbation accorded them. Fiddlewinks and Dugan, two hilarious comedians, secured an enthusiastic success with their clever Irish specialty, and Whelan and Seales, in their German comedy act, with some good singing by way of additional measure, held pleased attention during every moment of their time on stage. Other acts on the bill were: On and Davis, a pair of worthy comedians; Fips and Loretta, singers and dancers; Neta De Becker, a dainty dancer, and Marie Welsh, whose singing was excellent. The kaleidoscope continues.

People's Theatre (Sullivan, Harris & Woods, managers).—"Queen of the White Slaves" pleased a full house Monday evening. It is well acted by the company of capable performers, who are cast as follows: Bert Hall, Alfred Britton; Ralph Grimes, J. E. Miller; Edward Ford, George R. Don George R. Raymond; Charlie Fawn, R. Don Orr; May Sam, Jack Morton; Sam Kee, Joe Cane; Capt. Baxter, Max Hooper; Quing Lee, Herbert Wilkes; Ed. Wetzel, Edward Robinson; Al. Bryant; Mike O'Hara, Gene Woods; Number One, Harry Waltham; Number Two, George Kremer; Number Three, Norman Munroe; Maggie Murphy, May Southward; Bessie Darling, Bessie Marlowe; Pet Low, Nellie Sinclair; Zoe, Frankie Vitar; Harry, George; Stone, Fatta; Annie Lawrence; Yankumato, Ada Lane; Notika, Anna Yale; Mustang Mattie, Rose Braham; Grace Fawn, Aileen May; Ada Lane and Anna Yale introduced a catchy specialty. The various sensational scenes were well acted up and the play unfolded long and loudly. Bernard Thornton is manager; John Campbell, business manager; Harry Brown, agent; J. E. Milten, stage manager. Next week, "Wedded and Parted."

Pastor's Theatre (Tony Pastor, manager).—The veteran manager has placed one of his best efforts before his patrons in the way of an enticing programme for this week. Composed of many popular members of the vaudeville profession, opportunity is also afforded to again witness Jewett's Markin Theatre, as it is held over as a headline feature for this week. Some of the performances of the manikins have been changed about for this week, but the very pretty and elaborate transformation scenes, which conclude the act, are retained. It would be a strong feature of any programme. O'Brien and Buckley, in their comedy musical act, created a cyclone of fun and they were cordially welcomed back to the stage of many popular successful engagements. O'Brien, which made good in every sense of the term, were: Fiske and McDonough, in "Brooklyn's Baby"; Crawford and Manning, versatile comedians; Madge Fox, in songs and flip flaps; Danny Mann and company, in the comedy, "Mandy"; Adams and Reed, in side by side, as usual; the Lavette novelty acrobats; Henry and Hoan, presenting an excellent series of illustrated songs and life motion pictures; Frank Beverly and Edith Danvers, in comedy and fun; Butler and Wilkes, in a new sister act; Fred and Freda, in a side splitting German comedy act; Bert Lennon, a capable singing comedienne; Paul Frederick, who displayed marvelous skill in equilibristics, and the American Vitaphone, with a new and interesting series of pictures in life motion.

Keith's Theatre (E. E. Albee, general manager).—There was an audience of good proportions assembled to enjoy the new bill on Monday, Aug. 8, and there could be no doubt of the entertainment merit of the bill, arranged to promote diversion. The bill is headed by "The Boys in Blue," an act comprising about twenty men, in military manueuvres, which are excellently performed. Two songs are introduced in the act, one by a male and the second by a Red Cross nurse, which by the way, do not add to the act. James Thornton, in his always entertaining monologue, was to the fore, being granted a cordial "hand" when he came on, and as Mr. Thornton was in the form, he never appeared to better advantage at this theatre. Beatrice Moreland again scored the success her efforts warranted, and the bill also lists: Billy Foster and Edie Hartwell, novelty head to head acrobats; Charles May and Edna Hall, in their comedy act, entitled "A Timely Awakening"; the St. Felix Sisters, singers and dancers; Fitzgerald Bros. and Miss Roma, club manipulators; Dixon and Holmes, descriptive vocalists; Tededo and Price, gymnasts; Geo. R. Hoyt and Bertha Wallen, comedy sketch; Empire Trio, vocalists; Willard Bros., vocalists, banjoists and dancers; J. Walter Thompson's performing dogs; McKinnon and Reed, black face act, and the American Vitaphone.

Aerial Garden (Klaw & Erlanger, managers).—"A Little of Everything" is now in its tenth week.

Casino (Sam S. & Lee Shubert, managers).—"Piff! Paff! Puff!" opened its nineteenth week Aug. 8. Robert E. Graham assumed the role of August Melon in this production evening of 8, and made a very favorable impression. Fred Maer, who had played the role since Thos. O. Seabrooke left the company, has gone back to his old chair at the American.

New York Theatre (Klaw & Erlanger, managers).—"The Maid and the Mummy" opened its third week Aug. 8. This production is playing to large and well pleased audiences, and the crowd assembled evening of 8 was prodigious in its applause for the numerous entertaining features shown. The principals, Richard F. Carroll, Edward Watson, Louis Wesley, Adeline Hand, May Boley, Jess Caine and Annie Yeaman, all score big successes at every performance. A change has been made in the cast, the role of the duke, Lord Triverton, being dropped, and the character of Don Romero, while being substituted by Ernest Groh played the Don, and brought the role into pleasing prominence, winning thereby marked commendation.

PLANS HAVE BEEN FILED FOR IMPROVEMENTS in the line of safeguards against fire to be made at the Dewey Theatre and the old Weber & Fields Music Hall, to conform to the requirements of the Mayor's safety committee and the Building Department. The Dewey is to be equipped with two additional stairways leading from the balcony to the parquet and one additional staircase leading from the balcony to the emergency exits are also to be built from the private boxes on either side of the auditorium through a fireproof passageway leading to the stage exits, and all the doors are to be fireproofed. The Weber & Fields Music Hall, however, is to be equipped with a new, broad fire escape of the twenty-ninth street side, with two new exits giving access to it. The present staircases are to be removed and rebuilt, the stage floor is to be reconstructed, the dressing room rebuilt of fireproof construction, and automatic fireproof doors erected at all openings.

Atlantic Garden (W. Kramer's Sons, managers).—"The Three Nudes, acrobats; Watson and Barrett, comedians; Hay and Wynne, in a singing and dancing specialty; Lillian Held, vocal comedienne; the Hodges, musical sketch team, and the Elite Lady Orchestra are the attractions for this week. Paradise Roof Gardens (Oscar Hammerstein, manager).—"The current bill announces: Pewit, Hill and Sylvan, Paul Spadolni, the Gleasons, Chas. T. Aldrich, Willy Zimmerman, Gasc Sisters, Rice and Prevost, Collins and Hart, Al. Walz and "Parsifal," with Josephine Sabel, Eleanor Fay, and other chorists.

New York Theatre Roof Garden (Klaw & Erlanger, managers).—"The ninth week of this Summer season began Aug. 8, with a good attendance. New acts this week are: The Franz Trio, Moe, Schell and her performing troupe, "Johnny Williams, and Simon and Paris. It is announced as the last week of Guerrero, as "Carmen," and others who remain for this week are: The Four Lukens, Ned Wayburn's Girls, Zimmerman and Grand.

West Twenty-ninth Street Theatre.—"The programme for week of Aug. 8: Bernard Salinger, boy tenor; Sam Daniels, comedian and vocalist; Harriet Styles, vocalist; Blake and Blake, comedians; Poss-Nelson, J. E. Miller, and Edith Danvers, in "The Girl from Kay's" leaves there.

THE SEASON AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE will begin Saturday, Aug. 27, with Williams and Walker, in "In Dahomey." The house has been completely redecorated.

VIRGINIA EARL is the latest addition to the stock company which will occupy the new Liberty Theatre, at Lexington Avenue and Eighty-sixth Street, opens on Sept. 26. M. R. Bimberg is the proprietor.

CHARLES FROHMAN has arranged to provide all the attractions that are to appear at the Hudson Theatre covering the new lease secured by Henry B. Harris, in which he will also be interested.

HENRY B. HARRIS, manager of the Hudson Theatre, left Aug. 8 for Mount Clemens, Mich., where he will remain until Sept. 5, the date set for the first rehearsal of Robert Edwards' Co. in "Kingsley's Folly."

WEBER AND ZIEGELD have engaged Frank Mayne for an important role in the new Smith-Levi production, which will open the season at Weber's Music Hall.

HENRY B. HARRIS purchased last week from George J. Heye all the latter's interest in the Henry B. Harris Co. This makes Mr. Harris the sole owner of the twenty years' lease of the new Hudson Theatre, as well as the owner of the interest Mr. Heye held in the Harris plays, costumes and productions. Mr. Harris owned from the start only a minority interest in the company. By the new arrangement he has the additional privilege of leasing the theatre or of buying the theatre outright from Mr. Heye, the owner. Mr. Harris said that there would be no change in the policy of the house. He would continue to play his own attractions, as well as those provided by Charles Frohman.

Harlem.—At Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre (J. Austin Fynes, general manager) one of the most agreeable of the present day farce comedies, "Who is Brown?" is this week's offering. It was well played Aug. 8, and kept the audience in good humor throughout the entire performance. Good judgment was used in the selection of the cast, and the results were commendable. The house was well filled in the afternoon and packed in the evening. The vaudeville presented Libbie Arnold Bonnell, in her excellent act; Fisher and Clarke, Gray and Graham, and the kaleidoscope.

STAR (Wm. T. Keogh, manager).—"This is the first up town house to start the Fall and winter season. The audience on the opening night, Aug. 6, showed that the people in this section were amusement hungry, for they packed this house from roof to front door. The offering was the Black Patti Troubadours, under the management of Voelkel & Nolan, who have surrounded the star with a capable company in every respect. The first part was a satire on Dreamland, entitled "Looney Dreamland," introduced with all the latest music and songs. The changes of costumes were made, and the entire performance was of a character that will attract pleased attention everywhere. The olio: Christian and Reed, Vervallin and Gray, Black Patti, who retains her voice, and was given a warm reception; the Walter, Harry, Kraw and Rucker. The performance concluded with operatic selections, with Black Patti ably assisted by the entire company, who displayed well drilled voices. The performance gave great satisfaction from start to finish and was heartily applauded. The company remains this week. Next week, "Darkest Russia," with Eva Mountford as Ida.

NOTE.—The Metropolitan and Gotham are booked to open Aug. 13.

Brooklyn.—Coney Island is still the Summer amusement centre, and thousands of people daily visit the wonderful seaside resort to seek the pleasures that can probably be obtained nowhere else in this vicinity in such quantities. From Manhattan Beach to West Brighton is but a step, figuratively speaking, yet a choice lot or a greater variety of entertainment would be hard to find. There is everything to be seen or heard, from the high class musical comedies, and equally high grade vaudeville acts, down to the gypsy fortune tellers. In some quarters realism has been carried to a high point of ingenuity, while in others a more novelty is added to the long list of amusements. In another week the first of the local stock companies of Brooklyn will open the regular season, and each week will see one or more houses MAXHATTAN BEACH. "San Toy" is the musical comedy presented here this week, supplied by John C. Fisher, who has brought a fine company. James T. Powers is seen in the leading role, a character created by him several years ago. George K. Fortescue, Margaret McKinney, John Peachey, Mina Rudolph, W. L. Romaine and Josephine Newman are among the other principals who take prominent roles in the comedy.

PAS'S AMPHITHEATRE.—The destruction of Tripoli continues to draw thousands of people to witness this grand display of fireworks. It is a tribute to the heroes of the American navy of a century ago. The second bombardment of Tripoli, by Commodore Preble's squadron, took place Aug. 7, 1804, and a special tribute to the event was scheduled for last night, 8.

BRIGHTON BEACH.—In the Music Hall (Wm. T. Grover, manager) there is a fund of amusement and interest beside "the magic kettle," in this week's performances. The people include: The Four Mortons, in catchy songs; Gilman and Leonard, singing comedians; Schenk Brothers, head and hand balancers; Wm. H. Pascoe, Helen Mae Wilcox and Co., in a military playlet, by Edmund Day; Edwin's Military Maids, in an illusion and scenic effects; Johnny Carroll, in songs and stories; Beardsley Sisters, character vocalists, and the magic kettle.

LUNA PARK (Thompson & Dundy, managers).—"A novelty is presented this week in which the eight brass bands combine in an act of which all concert goers are proud. The entrance of the park, "Fire and Flame" is one of the leading features that never fails to draw great crowds at each performance. The Hindoo natives that appear at the park's pageant, "The Durbur," now hold half hour concert on the board balconies at the close of every Durbur entertainment. The chite shooting elephant never fails to amuse large crowds. All the elephants have been given new quarters in the public thoroughfare of the Streets of India. The bombardment of the Russian forts at Port Arthur is a new feature recently added to the park's navel battles in "The War is Hell" building. Novelties are added to the "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" trip. There are many other interesting features to be seen over the park. The people in the circus and vaudeville acts are: Josie Ashton, Mlle. Alexandrine, Louise De Mott, Guilmette, Gasmona and Tanko, Will Hill, Five Flying Herberths, Hurley, Humphrey's Dogs, Klitz-Alexander, Seort, John Rooney, Kneese-Ducrow and Lorenz, Martine and Balmo, Matsota and Tanko, Muller's dogs, Nazado, the Marvelous Stones, Sig. Spessard, Sylvester, Robert Stickey Jr., Spik, Little Salsotta, Mons. Vinello, Yaki and Mako, and Zingarelle.

DETROIT.—A new "fireman" has been assigned to duty in the "Fighting the Flames" act, and it is claimed that he makes a very good one at that. The new "man" is known by the name of Roger, and he is a big elephant from the Bostock arena of which he is the champion. The vaudeville stage the public continues to applaud the Golden Gate Quintette, who are among the best seen here. The Gordon Sisters, boxers and bag punchers, are retained another week. Villars and Lee are another team that are held over. The newcomers include: Katherine Milley, vocalist; Flakowski, mimic; Wells and Arthur, and Martin and Ridge-way. The circus acts and open air features are unchanged. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, Seort, John Rooney, Howard and Lucetta, Winicki Sautz and his mule, Pewee; Dick Vrooman, Melvin B. Howard. In Bostock's animal arena can be seen many daring feats performed by trainers of wild animals with their "pets," many of which are thrilling enough to keep the spectators in a fever of excitement.

HENDERSON'S MUSIC HALL (T. B. Henderson, manager).—"The people here for the current week are: The Gagnoux, Rhoda Bernard, Gillett Sisters, Hedrix and Prescott, Josephine Sabel, and the Misses Fox, Hasting E. Fitzgerald, Winnifred Stewart, Billy Gordon, Way and his Amer Beauties, Victor's Royal Venetian Band, Tanza Neapolitan Trio, Milano Trio, Archer Brothers and Edwin Meredith.

NOTES.—The Spooners will open another stock season at the Bijou Theatre next week. . . . Corse Payton's stock company, which opens its season at the Lee Avenue house on Aug. 29, includes: Corse Payton, Etta M. Corse, Louis Leon Hall, Arthur Evers, Joseph Gillett, the Misses Fox, Hasting Glenn, Wade, Nye and Florence Gear, and the Messrs. Roche, Sterrett, Lowther, McCreey, Hall and Leland.

'We'll Raise the Roof Tonight'

("WHOOOP 'ER UP, BOYS")

Words by R. C. McPHERSON and WILL ACCOOE.

Music by SIDNEY L. PERRIN.

GREAT VERSES—The Following Written Especially for the Present Campaign:

The question now before the nation
In every rank and every station,
Who's to be elected next November.
Teddy has been nominated,
Parker also has been slated.
Both good, honest men, you must remember.

Choose the man you want to follow,
Let the politicians holler
'Bout their virtues and about their sins,
They'll do a lot of "fussing"
And a right more "cussing,"
But here is hoping that the best man wins.

CHORUS.

So whoop 'er up, boys, whoop 'er up, boys,
The country is safe, no matter
Which man we choose to flatter.
We're doing well, so what the —, we'll raise the roof tonight.

"SOMETHING NEW AT THE GARDEN."

(From The New York World, July 20, 1904.)

"The audience of New Yorkers who sat under the Venetian stars watching the gliding gondolas and listening to Duss's sweet melody at Madison Square Garden last night had an agreeable surprise interpolated upon the programme. As the tender strains of Schubert's 'Serenade' died away there was suddenly flashed upon a sheet hung high up in the gallery a splendid colored stereopticon view of the 'St. Louis Exposition by Night.' The effect was unique. The great number of spectators suddenly transported from Venice, the ancient, to the St. Louis World's Fair, the embodiment of progress in science and art, gave vent to their pleasure in prolonged applause. Other colored pictures of the World's Fair followed. Pictures of 'A Chinese Village,' 'Fair Japan,' 'Ancient Rome,' 'Paris,' 'Old St. Louis' and other scenes from the famous Pike. A half dozen a number of the beautiful buildings of the greatest World's Fair in history. The pleasure expressed by the audience was most complimentary to the views."
